TERROIR FEELY

«We bought our vineyard in South West France in 2005 following our dream to create great wines on fine terroir. Now, with the wisdom of many years of winegrowing we celebrate not a misty dream but years of hard work and the inspiration of working with nature and nurturing this farm back to the full health and flavour of a living biodynamic soil. »

Why Biodynamics?

Biodynamic agriculture helps create healthy living soil and a balanced farm. The resulting wines are more expressive of their environment and better quality. The vines are cultivated without systemic pesticides to protect the environment, but also the health of farmers, our clients and our neighbours.

Our history

Irish citizens who grew up in South Africa, Sean and Caro Feely are both passionate about wine. Caro is the author of four books and a lecturer in wine, organic and biodynamics and food and wine pairings. Sean is an expert organic and biodynamic winegrower. Together, they share their know-how in the heart of their terroir, with respect for organic and biodynamic methods.

A convivial place

A unique moment awaits you in the heart of this exceptional vineyard. The Feely team will help you discover this unique Terroir, their knowledge and their joy of living.
